NEW CAFÉ COMING TO UTAH STATE UNIVERSITY

The Depot is currently being renovated to house the new on campus café.

LOGAN, Utah—When summer semester classes begin in a couple months at Utah State University, students and residents of Cache Valley will have one more option for dining on campus. The Depot, a conference and dining room next to the Junction Dining Service is being renovated to house an all you can eat soup, salad and breadsticks café.

The café, which will be called The Early Bird Café, will reach out to senior citizens in the community namely those who come up from Arizona to escape the summer heat. “It’s going to be great,” said Customer Service Assistant Manager Collin Maki, “It will be a good place to bring your grandparents.” Although the Early Bird Café is geared towards senior citizens, it will be open to anyone who wishes to dine there.

Current renovations to transform The Depot conference room into a cafe include: more lighting in the ceiling, adding curtains and drapes to give it more of a homely feel and the installation of a Coke fountain machine. If the café is successful during the summer Utah State University will consider keeping it around for the 2012-2013 school year.

The Early Bird Café will be open from 3-6pm, seven days a week. Two employees of The Junction will run the buffet. The cost is $6 per person.
